Art in Action: the Creative Process

For A-level, IB, Foundation and BTEC Level 3 students

This autumn sees the return to London of another exciting, visually stimulating Art in Action programme. During this immersive day, students will have the chance to meet and hear from four leading contemporary artists working in different areas of art and design. Through their fascinating presentations, the artists will explore their unique creative journeys, what inspires them, and how they turn an idea into a work of art. There will be plenty of time for questions and students are guaranteed to leave inspired and brimming with ideas for their own work.

Art in ACTION

Fire up your creativity / Grayson Perry CBE RA

Grayson Perry will talk about his work and consider how to be creative in an age which embraces both traditional and digital approaches to art.

Turner Prize-winner Grayson Perry's work is original and provocative. He uses traditional forms such as ceramics and tapestries in unconventional ways to comment on society's injustices and hypocrisies.

Slapstick violence and absurd comedy / Emma Hart

Artist Emma Hart's work has an emotional honesty and sharp wit which draws the viewer in for a stimulating and memorable experience. Intense and comically dark, her pieces are heavily symbolic, drawing on issues of domestic and emotional anxiety.

Emma Hart is an installation artist whose multidisciplinary practice incorporates sculpture, video and performance. Emma Hart makes work that actively confronts us; her sculptures often jut out from the wall. [...]

/ Simon Roberts

Simon Roberts is a British artist-photographer whose work deals with our relationship to landscape and notions of identity and belonging. Often employing expansive tableaux photographs, his approach is one of creating wide-ranging surveys of our time, which examine contemporary economic, [...]

Simon Roberts is a critically-acclaimed British photographer whose work deals with our relationship to landscape and notions of identity. He was recently made an Honorary Fellow of the Royal Photographic Society.
