

DEC
5
2018

Economics in Action

This inspirational day of economics talks for KS5 students features industry leaders, academics and public servants from the heart of government. In five highly educational sessions these renowned commentators will delve into a diverse range of KS5 topics.

- What happens when the money runs out?
- The economics of Uber
- Economic justice
- Innovation and Invention: What we get wrong about technology
- Monetary policy in practice

Emmanuel Centre, London
9 – 23 Marsham Street
London, SW1P 3DW

£23 + VAT*

Plus one COMPLIMENTARY staff ticket per 10 students. *VAT may be reclaimable please check with your finance department ttp is the leading provider of inspirational, informative, Education in Action study days for A-level, IB, BTEC and GCSE students.

Award-winning, world-class speakers

Cutting-edge content

Thought-provoking demos and presentations

Examination hints, tips and guidance

Modestly priced to offer access to all

Complimentary staff ticket for every 10 students booked

Bookings can be amended up to 28 days before the event day

DEC
5
2018

Economics in ACTION

What happens when the money runs out? / Stephen King

Stephen will look at the impact of the emerging nations on western economic prosperity and what actions governments can take to prevent an economic collapse of the sort that happened in 2008.

Stephen is senior economic adviser at HSBC Holdings. He also works as a journalist and consultant, and is a specialist adviser to the House of Commons Treasury Committee.

Innovation and Invention: What we get wrong about technology / Tim Harford

Tim Harford will explore the ideas and inventions that shaped the world around us and answer the question: What do we get wrong when we think about new technologies?

Tim Harford is the author of "The Undercover Economist", a senior columnist at the Financial Times, and the presenter of Radio 4's "More or Less" and "Pop Up Ideas".

The economics of Uber / Sam Dumitriu

Sam will look at Information Asymmetry, how it relates to occupational licensing and the risks of government failure and regulatory capture. He'll examine some macro-economic issues of the gig economy such as increased labour supply and lower NAIRU.

Sam Dumitriu is Head of Research at the Adam Smith Institute. He is also a Policy Adviser at The Entrepreneur's Network.

Monetary policy in practice / Becky Maule

Becky will explain how monetary policy is set in practice: the tools the Monetary Policy Committee has at its disposal; how those affect the economy; what factors are important in reaching policy decisions; and how those decisions are communicated to

Becky is the head of the External Engagement Division at the Bank of England, leading on the communication of monetary policy and other engagement with the outside world, including through

Economic justice / Catherine Colebrook

What is economic justice, and how can we achieve it in an age of rapid technological change? Catherine will explain the key recommendations of the recently-concluded IPPR Commission on Economic Justice, and why they will help to create a more

Catherine Colebrook is the Chief Economist and Associate Director for Economic Policy at the Institute for Public Policy Research (IPPR). Before joining IPPR in 2015, Catherine was principal economist at

The Training Partnership

Gilmoora House | 57-61 Mortimer Street | London W1W 8HS
020 3008 6441 | office@thetrainingpartnership.org.uk
www.thetrainingpartnership.org.uk